

First Supplement to Memorandum 2023-7

Antitrust Law: Status Report

In preparing Memorandum 2023-7, the staff inadvertently omitted the biographical information for Thomas Greene:

Thomas Greene is a trial attorney with the Antitrust Division of the U.S. Department of Justice, where his practice includes both civil and criminal enforcement actions

He was previously special trial counsel for the Federal Trade Commission's Bureau of Competition where he led successful challenges to major health care mergers in Idaho and Illinois.

He served in the California Attorney General's Office where he was chief of antitrust. Among other cases, he successfully argued an appeal to the United States Supreme Court vindicating indirect purchaser remedies under state antitrust law, California v. ARC America Corp. (1989) 490 U.S. 93, and served as national class counsel in California v. Hartford Fire Insurance Co. He was chair of the Multistate Antitrust Task Force of the National Association of Attorneys General.

In addition to antitrust litigation, he led special task forces litigating cases against major tobacco manufacturers and energy companies. He subsequently served as Chief Assistant Attorney General for the Public Rights Division, the public protection arm of the California Attorney General's Office.

He has received a number of honors, including awards from the California Lawyers Association and the Attorney General of the United States. He is a Fellow of the American Bar Foundation and the former chair of the California Lawyers Association's Litigation and Antitrust and Unfair Competition Law Sections. He is currently an adjunct professor of law at UC Law SF (formerly Hastings College of Law) in San Francisco, where he has taught the core antitrust course since 2016 and co-organized academic symposia on new directions in antitrust.

The staff apologizes for the oversight.

Respectfully submitted,

Brian Hebert
